Congress Awaits President's Message Wednesday

Congress Will Begin Session On Wednesday

Annual Message From President Is Being Eagerly Awaited

NATIONAL UNITY CALL ANTICIPATED

Outstanding Questions Are Confronting Session—Many Are International

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—President Roosevelt today inferred with congressional leaders and personal advisers on plans for opening of the third session of the 76th congress—a session aimed with political dynamite—at high noon tomorrow.

The president, it was reported in congressional quarters, will devote much of his annual message to Congress on the international situation and will call for national unity in living problems arising in a war-ridden world.

Message Awaited
Republican leaders anxiously awaited the message, which the president will deliver in person at the joint session of senate and house, to see whether he actually proposed adjournment of partisanship. Republican leaders make it plain that they will reject any such plan.

PA NEW OBSERVES

And now Leap Year is upon us.

It seems the irony of fate that when an auto has to skid on Highland avenue and crash into one of the concrete sign posts, it should crash out one of the few remaining signs that carried street signs that were in good condition. The post-ruck was the corner of Edison and Highland avenues.

And by the way, why not have one action in the way of having the street signs replaced within the next few months. Most of the street signs in the city are barren of any signs.

New Castle and Lawrence county are at a touch of real winter over the new year's holiday period. The temperature dropped down near zero, and there was a biting frost and blowing most of the time on Sunday and part of Monday. Fortunately the highways were bare of snow, so that travel for motorists was not so difficult in this district.

Frozen radiators were quite numerous over the year-end holiday. The drop in temperature was so unexpected that some motorists who had been coasting along with little anti-freeze in their car radiators were caught napping.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Kelly, 514 Highland avenue, are taking down today, a clever setting underneath their brilliant lighted Christmas tree. (Continued On Page Two)

Near Zero Weather Has State In Grip

(International News Service)
The coldest wave to strike Pennsylvania in the current winter season today swept across the state out of the west as the mercury failed to climb from its near zero depths.

Two deaths were reported in the Pittsburgh district due to the frigid blasts. William J. Eisel, 58, was found frozen to death, authorities said.

The bitter cold was likewise held responsible for the death of William White, 65, Heidelberg, who collapsed in front of an apartment house where he had been visiting friends. To Continue Today

The cold wave, which plunged the mercury to five above, was expected to continue at least through the day, government meteorologists declared, with snow flurries expected off and on throughout the daylight hours.

At Davis, W. Va., temperatures dropped to two below, while Morgantown and Fairmont residents shivered at two above. Greenburg reported four above.

So low were temperatures in this area that the Allegheny river froze from bank to bank at the point in Pittsburgh, and thin ice was reported on various pools on the Ohio.

With the exception of the Erie region, however, the Pittsburgh

President's Third Term Stand Is Not Known As He Faces New Congress

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—President Roosevelt today confronted a new session of Congress, in which politics will play a dominant role, with his personal plans for the 1940 Presidential race still a complete mystery.

Democrats and Republicans alike are speculating whether the President will seek a third term. No one seems to know. Many support the proposal to place the Senate on record as opposed to the principle of a third term, in an effort to "smoke out" the President.

See Tough Sledding
Most observers believe Mr. Roosevelt will have tough sledding with his legislative program—aside from routine appropriation bills—until he does speak. This belief is based on congressional fear that the President might use congressional enactments to help himself into a third term.

It is a curious phenomenon that Mr. Roosevelt, a talkative man with his friends, has been able to guard his secret so well. Even his intimates frankly declare they do not know for certain what he will do. Some have their own ideas, but even these guesses differ.

Don't Think He'll Run
One of his closest friends recently said:

"Honestly, I don't know what he is going to do. Personally, I feel he is not going to run for another term, unless there is a genuine demand for it from the people at large or a grave international situation." (Continued On Page Two)

Upside-Down Landing Made By Army Plane

One Flier Bails Out And Other Escapes Injury In Unusual Landing

(International News Service)
NEW ALEXANDRIA, Pa., Jan. 2.—After his companion had bailed out in five-above-zero cold, Lieut. Stanley Stewart, 30, early today skidded his plane to an upside-down stop in a field of snow near here.

Stewart dropped head-first from the cockpit, unharmed. Five miles away, Lieut. Dwight B. Johnson, 32, untangled himself from a parachute which lodged against a tree. Luckily Johnson landed near a farmhouse.

Both men found immediate shelter from the intense cold.

The army lieutenants were en route to Chicago from West Point, intending to stop at Cleveland to refuel, but strong headwinds held back their ship, eating up its gasoline supply. (Continued On Page Two)

HELSINKI, Jan. 2.—Italian volunteers are arriving in Finland to aid in the fight against Soviet Russia, it was reliably reported today.

The volunteers are in addition to groups of Italian airmen who already are said to have taken part in aerial battles against Soviet planes, using Italian aircraft. Quantities of war materials also are arriving from Italy.

County Officials Formally Enter Office Monday

Induction Ceremonies Take Place At Court Room During Morning

DEPTIES SWORN IN FOR SEVERAL OFFICES

Constables Also Take Oath Of Office For Newly Elected Terms

New hands took hold of the reins of county government Monday morning, January 1, and some old hands retained their grip when county officers were inducted into office in court room number one. Three county commissioners, a prothonotary, a county treasurer, a county controller and a coroner were inducted. Deputies to the officials followed and then a group of constables.

Court Crier Clifford Vance opened court at nine o'clock and Judge W. Walter Braham announced that the first order of business was the induction of officials. Judge Braham then gave the oath of office to Prothonotary and Clerk of Courts John A. Edgar. It was necessary for Edgar to take four oaths, one as Prothonotary of Court of Common Pleas, one as Clerk of the Court of Prothonotary and one as the Clerk of the Orphans Court.

Edgar Swears Officials
Judge Braham then instructed Mr. Edgar to swear in the officials who were present and ready. Frank W. Hill, county controller was the first one to be sworn and was followed by the three commissioners, George H. Bolinger, a hold over, W. R. Walton and Joseph F. Travers. (Continued On Page Seven)

County Commissioners Organize Soon After Taking Oath Of Office

ROSS IS APPOINTED REGISTRATION HEAD

Immediately following their induction into office Monday, County Commissioners George H. Bolinger, W. R. Walton and Joseph F. Travers met in their new offices on the west side of the court house and organized.

George H. Bolinger who has served four years, took the chair and called for nominations for president of the board. W. R. Walton nominated Mr. Bolinger for president, seconded by Mr. Travers. Mr. Bolinger then nominated Mr. Walton for president of the Institution board, seconded by Mr. Travers. Mr. Walton nominated Mr. Travers chairman of the Board of Bridges and Highways, seconded by Mr. Bolinger. Mr. Walton was elected secretary of the board.

Mr. Bolinger then suggested that all appointed personnel be retained at least for the present time. Mr. Walton said he favored such a step. (Continued On Page Two)

Part Of Democratic County Committee Asks Shaw To Resign

Protesting against the leadership of John B. Shaw as county chairman of the Democratic county committee, about 50 members held a "rump" session of the committee Saturday afternoon in the court house. Charges of making by Shaw were made, resolutions calling for investigation of a number of charges and the resignation of Mr. Shaw were passed and a meeting planned for Friday night, January 12.

The meeting was called by petition of about one-third of the present membership of the county committee. The full membership is about 200, but resignations due to the Hatch law have reduced the total to about 135, it is said. Following the issuance of the call Mr. Shaw sent each member notice saying that the meeting was illegal and that anything done by it would be of no effect.

Huffman Opens

John Huffman opened the meeting and called for election of a temporary chairman and secretary. Joseph F. Travers, county commissioner, was named chairman and James Vessella, secretary.

Attorney Sherman K. Levine was the first speaker. He is one of the two inheritance tax appraisers. He charged that Shaw had tried to force him to support his candidacy for county commissioner to the extent of about 135, it is said. Following the issuance of the call Mr. Shaw sent each member notice saying that the meeting was illegal and that anything done by it would be of no effect.

Miller Trial Resumed Today

(International News Service)
BUTLER, Pa., Jan. 2.—The second trial of Dr. Charles S. Miller, president of Slippery Rock State Teachers College, resumed today after a five-day postponement.

The postponement was granted by Judge John H. Wilson, a former member of the board of trustees at the school, because Attorney Harry Hellman, representing Miller, could not leave a sick-bed.

Dr. Miller won a re-trial after his conviction in October on charges of nonfeasance and misfeasance in office.

Holiday Season Over Once More

New Year 1940 Is Formally Welcomed—Weather Is Cold

USUAL ACCLAIM GREET'S NEW YEAR

Like stars dimming in the dawn, the lights go out of the windows, the tinsel and the baubles come off the Christmas tree, the wreaths of holly and spruce are consigned to the furnace and tomorrow school starts again. The holiday season is over.

The new year, little old 1940, came in Monday morning, faced red with excitement and the cold blast, eyes aglow with the ambition of youth to be at the job, full of promise and hope and anticipation.

Not So Noisy

This year the new year's coming was not quite as noisy as it usually is due to the fact that New Year's Eve was Sunday. Because of that the spots where liquor is dispensed were closed and celebrations for the most part were confined to the homes.

Places that held New Year's parties or shows opened at 12:01.

In many churches watch night services were held. As the clock touched the midnight hours bells rang out, factory whistles blew and here and there a few hardy souls on the street made some whoopee but the cold soon drove them inside.

With all the holiday noise and confusion out of the road, 1940 and you start in on the job of making the minutes of the new year count. It isn't so long ago, just 31,536,000 seconds from yesterday morning that another little chap came in over the eastern hills. We called him little 1939 but he's gone now, down into the warehouse of other years, an old man full of troubles.

Now we have his successor full of vim, vigor and vitality, taking up where 1939 left off, ready to do a good job if the fates will let him. (Continued On Page Two)

Murder Mystery At Philadelphia

Police Hunt Clues As To Slayer Of Argentinian Girl Brutally Slain

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 2.—Seeking to penetrate the mystery surrounding her murder, detectives today back-tracked through the life and loves of pretty, dark-eyed Mary Vila, 23-year-old Argentinian who was beaten, strangled and mutilated in her bedroom on New Year's eve.

Meanwhile, a description of a 30-year-old relative of the slain girl who disappeared from his home last Saturday was sent over the police wires of eight states. Detectives said, however, they had no evidence against the man, but were seeking an explanation for his disappearance.

Miss Vila, an unemployed waitress and former laboratory worker in Philadelphia General hospital, was horribly mutilated, police said. The crime, they added, was apparently the work of a sex maniac. (Continued On Page Two)

Heavy Storms Add To Distress In Turkish Earthquake Areas

FLOOD CASUALTIES TOTAL NEAR 300

(International News Service)
ANKARA, Jan. 2.—Heavy storms, high winds and rain brought new suffering to Turkey today following earthquakes in Anatolia and floods in the west.

The storm swept across Anatolia but its center was reported over the Black sea and a large number of vessels were feared to have been wrecked.

The 604-ton steamer Turkan was reported to have sunk with its crew of 20 and a full cargo.

Unofficial advices numbered flood casualties at more than 300 in the Smyrna district and said rising waters marooned 500 villages. Still further quake shocks were reported yesterday in Anatolia, but at longer intervals.

Along the Anatolian Black sea coast the storm caused heavy damage to ships and buildings close to the shore. (Continued On Page Two)

House Will Seek Break, Is Report

Severing Of Diplomatic Relations May Be Asked In Congress

CLAIM SOVIET HAS BROKEN AGREEMENT

(BULLETIN) (International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—A house drive to force the administration to break off diplomatic relations with Russia on the ground the Soviets failed to abide by the promises it made in the 1933 agreement with the United States, will be initiated this week.

Legislation to this end will be introduced by Chairman Martin Dies of the special house committee investigating un-American activities on the basis of information gathered in the committee's two-year inquiry into Communist, Nazi and Fascist activities in this country.

While Dies was in today at his Orange (Tex.) home his office said a resolution calling upon the administration to end its relations with the Soviets has been drafted for submission to the house when congress convenes tomorrow.

Failed To Keep Agreement

Dies contends that Russia failed to abide by the following promises which were made in 1933 when diplomatic relations were renewed with the Soviets after a lapse of 16 years.

1.—To refrain from interfering in any matter in the internal affairs of the United States, its territories or possessions, and

2.—To refrain any organization or group that may be associated with the Russian government from subsidizing or carrying on propaganda in this country.

The pledges were made by the then Russian foreign commissar, Maxim Litvinoff.

In the Philadelphia area, where the new year and the coldest day of the winter arrived together, the cold wave was to continue for at least 48 hours, the weather man predicted this morning. The sharp dip in temperature sent the mercury down to 15 in Philadelphia, while outlying sections reported readings as low as zero. Frozen lakes were thrown open to ice skaters, but for those who got sleds instead of skates for Xmas there was no snow in sight for Philadelphia or environs.

The state capital city of Harrisburg shivered under its coldest New Year's day in 22 years, the temperature falling to a low of seven degrees.

High temperature for the day was 20 degrees, though no deaths were reported from the frigid weather. The Susquehanna river was frozen over in most places, but highways in central Pennsylvania were generally reported in good shape.

In other central Pennsylvania communities the mercury dropped to 10 above in Lancaster, five below in York for the coldest day in five years, three above at Lebanon.

PRESIDENT'S THIRD TERM STAND IS NOT KNOWN

uation develops, fraught with peril for the United States. In the latter case he might actually seek a third term, actively and aggressively, without pretending to rely on any drafting.

The President frequently confuses his friends. Recently he has been telling visitors about the great public service of Secretary of State Cordell Hull. In discussing Hull, however, he has never gone as far as saying he would support the Tennesseean for the Democratic nomination, but rather, limits his comment to gentle praise of his cabinet member.

Confusing Statements

A few days ago he praised Hull to one visitor, but immediately added that the secretary of state was "too old" for the nomination. Thus, he blessed Hull to one caller, he took the secretary out of the 1940 race in another conversation.

The President also has spoken highly to callers of Attorney General Frank Murphy, Solicitor General Robert H. Jackson and Secretary of Commerce Harry L. Hopkins. At the same time he has given no indication whatever of being intent on supporting any one of them for the nomination.

Mr. Roosevelt also has spoken from time to time of what amounts to be his "black list." There are several names on it, according to his visitors. Near the top is Social Security Administrator Paul V. McNutt of Indiana, who was regarded as the "fair-haired boy."

To Provide Sounding Board

Vice President John Nance Garner and Postmaster General James A. Farley are not on this list. However, the President in recent talks has dismissed Garner as "too old" and Farley as "unable to win." And meantime, the President keeps his secret.

The new session will provide a sounding board for many Presidential aspirations. With Garner presiding, the Senate will present a Democratic possibilities or favorite sons: Clark of Missouri, Wheeler of Montana, Byrnes of South Carolina, Barkley of Kentucky, Byrd of Virginia, George of Georgia, Harrison of Mississippi, Tydings of Maryland, and Donahoe of Ohio; as Republican possibilities: Vandenberg of Michigan, Taft of Ohio, Bridges of New Hampshire, McNary of Oregon, and Lodge of Massachusetts.

In the House Speaker Bankhead will preside with a possibility of getting second place on the Democratic ticket. Rep. Sam Rayburn of Texas might get that spot. And across the aisle will sit Representatives Joe Martin of Massachusetts, Fish and Wadsworth of New York, any one of whom may be on the next Republican ticket.

President Roosevelt remained in seclusion as he worked over the final draft of the message. Other than the conference with congressional leaders, he saw no callers to-day. Stephen T. Early, his secretary, revealed that while Mr. Roosevelt had virtually completed the budget message he still had not finished the annual message which must be ready by tomorrow.

The new mayor then gave the oath of office to Councilmen D. O. Davies, J. L. Pink and city treasurer, C. C. McKibben. The latter two were re-elected in November.

Young Police Chief

After this was done Mayor Mayne named Edna Reimold as his secretary, and M. J. Young, a member of the force, as chief of police. The former succeeds Miss Evelyn McGrath as mayor's secretary, and Young succeeds Ralph A. Criswell.

Before swearing Mayne in as mayor, the outgoing executive, McGrath said to the large assembly that he appreciated having had an opportunity to serve the citizens and thanked colleagues for their cooperation during the past four years.

He congratulated Mayne and expressed the wish that Mayor Mayne would be able to do more for the city than he had been able to do during the past four years. Mayor Mayne did not make any address upon being sworn in but made the two appointments immediately.

Figures high in the political and business life of the community were present at the inauguration exercises.

tree. The scene depicted a most complete camp, with soldiers marching, their barracks, and camp houses. Trucks on winding roads, first aid headquarters, a railroad station and a corral were but a few of the items listed in this setting, which has been visited by interested spectators.

The Christmas trees are being discarded today. In some homes they had been taken down before the New Year's holiday. In practically every home they will be removed before the end of the present week, although here and there a home will be found where the trees will remain for several weeks.

A most unique Christmas scene is that found in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Payl Schetrom, 1310 East Brook street, which depicts a miniature village. The scene includes a miniature airport, with flood lights, a barn yard setting, soldiers camp, gold course, fishpond with living fish rows of lighted miniature houses, trucks on highways, a church and other scenes too numerous to mention. "Schetrom Village" takes up better than half the living room, being arranged on a table.

Scotch pine tree set off with blue lights and the miniature lighted lamp posts along the "little village streets" reflecting against a tinted mountain range, is a most impressive picture. They welcome others interested in seeing same, by calling at their home. The arrangement will remain until Friday, when it will be taken down by Mr. Schetrom, who made it, starting two weeks before Christmas.

This morning, employees of the American Telegraph and Telephone Company, were engaged on either side of the Shenango River, near the west side bridge, in inserting three lead cables containing wires into the conduit that crosses under the bed of the river.

The resolution was passed. This means that Chief Clerk William A. Eakin and Solicitor William R. McElwee are retained in their posts. The same goes for the clerical help.

Registration Commissioner

Mr. Bolinger then said "a vacancy exists in the registration commission office, the job of registration commissioner having been vacant for some months. Because so little time intervened between the last election and the induction, the board felt it was better to leave the vacancy unfilled until the new board went in."

Commissioner W. R. Walton then nominated Charles Ross of Ellwood City and the nomination was seconded by Mr. Travers. The vote was unanimous in electing Mr. Ross. The post was formerly filled by Thomas C. Edmunds, who resigned in mid-summer to run for the Republican nomination for county treasurer.

Before adjournment President George H. Bolinger said to his two colleagues, "Four years ago when we entered the office the county was in debt. Today the treasury is in good shape and we have a substantial balance. I trust that this board will co-operate in every official duty we undertake and thus insure an efficient administration."

Commissioner Ross said, "I feel that we have a duty to perform above party affiliations. We are elected as county commissioners and I also want to see co-operation to the end that the people may be served efficiently." Mr. Walton echoed similar sentiments.

Turn Over Money

In the office of the county treasurer the retiring treasurer, V. I. Mandich, worked with the incoming treasurer Earl R. Wimer, until noon when the last book and account were turned over.

No announcements as to changes in the office personnel were made by Mr. Wimer except the post of deputy. This went to Donald Neal of Wilmington township. Announcements of a few changes will be made later, it was indicated.

IN NO OTHER LAND does the magic word HOME mean so much as it does in America today. For our homes are not only the symbols of our liberty but our standards of achievement for all the rest of the world.

In our homes we enjoy freedom of speech and opinion. Freedom of the press and freedom of speech by radio make it possible for every man, woman and child to be informed of the affairs of the world.

There is another freedom we enjoy in our homes that is the envy of the rest of the world—freedom from drudgery, drafts and contamination. And for this freedom we can give thanks largely to the Heating and Plumbing Contractors of America.

Heating and Plumbing are the twin guardians of our family welfare. Heating safeguards our homes against cold, dampness and discomfort upon which sickness thrives. Plumbing supplies the fresh, pure water so essential to well-being and carries away waste so dangerous to good health.

Both Heating and Plumbing are too essential to the welfare of your family and to the uninterrupted enjoyment of your home to be entrusted to any but the skilled hands of a Heating and Plumbing Contractor.

RAINBOW GIRLS TO DINE WEDNESDAY EVE

Plans for the New Year dinner for the girls of Assembly No. 1, Order of the Rainbow, which will take place at 6 o'clock Wednesday evening, in the West Dining room of the Cathedral, have been completed, and indications point to an enjoyable event.

It is expected that more than 125 will be present for the occasion, the arrangements being in charge of the following committee appointed by Miss Rosetta Treharne, Worthy Advisor: Misses Claribel Cope, and Dorothy Flech, assisted by Idogene Jones and Beryl Morgan. Mrs. William Wheldon, Worthy Advisor, Mrs. H. W. French, and Mrs. Clifford Propst will assist Mrs. Charles E. Allen of the Advisory board, who are cooperating with the Rainbow Girls.

Following the dinner, the regular meeting will take place at 7:30 o'clock in the East Lodge room with election of officers taking place.

MOONLIGHT 500 CLUB NEW YEAR'S DINNER

Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. Reynolds were hosts at a New Year's party Monday evening, when members of the Moonlight 500 club gathered in their home, East Washington street. A 6 o'clock dinner was served in the dining room, the season's colors being used. The hostess was assisted by Mrs. Frances Johnson.

High score card awards going to George Woodring, H. Wigton, Mrs. George Woodring and Florence Mitchell.

The next regular meeting will be with Mrs. Frances Johnson, Allen street, on January 4.

W. B. B. Club Meets

Associates of the W. B. B. club members will gather on January 16, in the home of Mrs. William Carr, East Washington street.

On a recent evening the group gathered in the residence of Mr. and Mrs. D. Parker, of Mercer.

An informal social time was enjoyed with gifts being exchanged by the group. A lovely gift was presented to each member by the hostess.

Mrs. William Carr assisted the hostess in serving a delicious lunch in the dining room, with the season's tones predominating.

Birthday Party Held

Mrs. Harry Nelson of 1216½ South Mill street entertained a group of youngsters on Monday honoring the 14th anniversary of her son, Jackie Ritchie.

Games and contests were enjoyed and following, the hostess served a dainty lunch, assisted by Lydia Betty Steinbrink.

Jackie received many gifts in remembrance of the happy day.

LEGION AUXILIARY MAKE CONTRIBUTIONS

The American Legion Auxiliary, Perry S. Gaston Post Unit 343 held their regular meeting in the Legion home, Monday evening with Mrs. Ruth Connors presiding.

Gertrude Speed reported on membership and Mrs. Hazel Cooper reported on Americanism. Donations were sent to Aspinwall, Perry Point Naval and Coastwise Veterans hospitals and also liberal contributions are being sent to the local Red Cross.

The next meeting will be held Monday, January 15, followed by a card party and social time, with Mrs. Elizabeth Miller as chairlady. Her committee follows: Mrs. Hazel Cooper, Mrs. Gertrude Speed, Mrs. Cora Clark and Miss Lillian Hartman.

Mrs. Hazel Cooper with Mrs. Theodore Gunnett won the special prize. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Gertrude Speed, Ethel Bell and Mrs. Elizabeth Miller.

LASTORIA-MELE ENGAGEMENT NEWS

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Lastoria of 1305 Croton avenue, announce the engagement of their daughter, Mary Elizabeth, to Peter Paul Mele, son of Mrs. Josephine Mele of 413 Lutton street.

The engagement will terminate in a late summer wedding.

1923 S. L. Club

Mrs. Frank Zimmerly will entertain in her home on Park avenue Wednesday evening for 1923 S. L. club members.

SLEDs AND AUTOMOBILES

THE combination of sleds, automobiles and the venturesome spirit of youth is one to bring terror to the heart on these bright winter days as boys and girls set out to enjoy their perilous forms of adventure. From many sections have come reports of these seasonal tragedies.

The story is a familiar one. A little boy hitches his new sled to the rear of an automobile, or speeds down a hill, with a result that is all too common.

While snow remains on the ground there will be the constant danger of accidents. Coasters will come speeding down hills and terraces, oblivious of all danger, and will run into the paths of cars. There is the possibility that there will be many accidents under these circumstances wherever there is much snow.

This possibility can be minimized if there is thought and care all along the line. Parents should warn their children constantly and emphatically of the dangers involved in these practices. Motorists, realizing that this danger exists, should exercise every precaution to guard against it. The police have it within their power to do a great deal in the furtherance of safety.

WHAT WAR COSTS

Estimating the World War's total money cost to all nations involved at $331,600,000,000, William McC. Martin, Jr., president of the New York Stock Exchange, says this would have been sufficient—

"To have supplied every family in the United States, Canada, England, France, Germany, Russia, Belgium and Australia with a $2,500 house on a $500 lot, with $1,000 worth of furniture; a $5,000,000 library for every community of 200,000 inhabitants in those countries; a $10,000,000 university for every such community; a fund that at 5 per cent interest would yield enough to pay indefinitely $1,000 a year to an army of 125,000 teachers and 125,000 nurses, and still leave enough to buy every piece of property and all the wealth in France and Belgium at a fair market price."

YES, NEW FRONTIERS LIE AHEAD!

The learned historian sighed wearily, closed the last of many dusty books he had been reading, and rubbed his hand across his eyes. Then he muttered, half to himself, so that the words were scarcely audible—

"There aren't any more frontiers," the learned historian sighed to himself. "They're all gone. There's no more room for adventure. There's no more room for achievement. All we can do is sit down and write books about the opportunities of the past."

Meanwhile, in an industrial laboratory in the same city, two men were bending eagerly over a small flame and an array of glass tubes. They were watching the last stages of an experiment that had taken over a year. They were research men employed by an industrial company; their experiments were being backed up by that company; and they were on the verge of discovering a new product that would mean new jobs and new paychecks for hundreds of men.

The learned historian would never think of looking for new frontiers in industry. Yet that is just where they are to be found today.

Today, these are to be found in science and research, working with American industry to produce the progress that can come only when new ideas are turned from theory into actuality. In that field, there lies far more scope, more of a chance for adventure and progress than Daniel Boone or Buffalo Bill or Davey Crockett ever had.

The learned historian, lost among his dusty books, is very short-sighted indeed if he neglects these things. Last frontiers? Americans will never recognize them. There are no last frontiers for America.

BRITISH FOOD RESTRICTIONS AFFECT US, TOO

The longer a modern war continues the more widespread and complex are its economic influences.

When England's new food rationing rules go into effect on January 8, the British people will get less sugar, bacon, butter and meat than heretofore. That will be a hardship, particularly the limitation on meat. An abundance of roast beef and mutton has been traditional with the British.

But the English wartime food rationing affects the United States, too. Britain buys more than half her ham in this country. She will buy notably less under the new regulations.

According to the British Food Ministry the reduction in food imports will release cargo space for transport of munitions and airplanes. This may mean what we lose in sale of ham to the British we will make up in sale of war supplies.

But we produce war supplies only on order, whereas our surplus of farm products is a continuing problem. War trade is a tricky business, liable to end without a moment's notice. But ham represents the kind of export trade we need.

Germany, ringed by the British sea blockade, has been pulling its belt tighter and tighter. Now the English, having lost a large amount of ship tonnage to Nazi mines and submarines, is doing the same, although not yet to the same degree.

It begins to be a question of how long the war can last if General Hunger takes command of the situation in the British Isles as well as in Germany. Every day the strange struggle goes on Europe loses on the economic front.

The dislocation of European trade, and restrictions on nutritious foods in order to pay for bombs and shells, are a further argument, if any were needed, for Americans to stick to their determination to keep out of foreign wars.

Perhaps by resolutely staying out we can hasten the time when ham, not guns, will symbolize a permanent return to the kind of foreign trade that builds nations instead of destroying them.

Russia continues to lose red soldiers on those lakes. Apparently the Finns aren't taking the trouble to mark the weak ice.

Sometimes it looks to unemployed youth like the ladder of success is still here but all the bottom rungs have been removed.

A Kansas man whose auto ran into a cow reported that he did $150 damage to his car and $5 damage to the cow. It was a $5 cow.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

RESOLVE TO BE A BETTER CHILD

PARENTS, teachers and Sunday school teachers might profitably talk over the following resolutions with their children, to help guide their conduct during the new year:

I am going to try to grow up strong and healthy.

I will eat what I ought to eat and drink only what I ought to drink—plenty of milk, lots of water.

I will sleep enough, go to bed at a regular time, and sleep with my window open.

I will try to spend at least two hours a day out-of-doors having good fun with others of my age.

I will play hard and play fair.

I will learn to get along well with my playmates, not picking fights or quarrels, nor running off when I can't have my way.

I won't be a bully, for a bully is a coward attacking and annoying younger, weaker children.

I won't kick another person with my feet or fight with stick and stones, but I will stand up for my rights and defend them with my fists, if attacked.

Will Be Less Selfish

I won't romp and make rough-house indoors, but will enjoy creative and constructive play there, attracting my playmates to join me in it.

I want to be less selfish with my friends and playmates, sharing more with them, never bragging or showing off, nor talking to them of things I have that they don't have.

I'm not going to quarrel so much with my brother or sister, but will try to have many more good times with him or her.

I want to manage myself so that others will like me better, so that I will have more friends in 1940 than I had in 1939.

I want to show that I am growing up by looking after myself better and taking better care of my own things.

I am going to try to manage myself more, bringing myself in from play when the street lights come on and making myself ready for dinner.

I'm going to get myself ready for school each morning in 1940, and on time. No one will have to wash my neck and ears, or find my hat and other things. I'm growing up.

Will Help Mother

I'm going to be less bother to my mother. When I come into the house, I'll hang up my hat and coat. When I cause a mess at making things, I'll clean it up. I'll tidy up my own room, too. I'm not a baby any more.

I am going to help my mother more, doing some regular jobs every day without having to be told, and volunteering some just to be kind and useful.

I am going to have better table manners so my mother won't have to be ashamed of me and I won't have to be ashamed of myself, and we all can be happier together at mealtime.

I will do what my father and mother tell me to do without acting like a baby whining, complaining or wanting to know why.

I will be careful of my own things, other people's things and the furniture. —BUY IN NEW CASTLE—

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

LONG LIVED

Parrots are known to be very long-lived. Their longevity is to be compared with that of the elephant and the crocodile of the Nile. One of these birds which could recite the Lord's Prayer in Latin, died recently.

The bird had lived with a Victoria family for more than fifty years and was believed to be well over the century mark.

Polly spoke English and Spanish with some fluency. She had a strong aversion to masculine society, and was glum and silent when men were about. But in feminine company she was good natured and talkative.

She was a native of Brazil, and was brought to Victoria by a captain in the Royal Navy. Disgusted with her bad temper, he had given her to a Victoria girl, and the man-hater lived happily ever after.

SYRACUSE, N. Y.—Dr. Mark A. May, director of the Institute of Human Relations at Yale:

"The American education system, as it actually operates today, is really more like the social class system of education in England than it is like our American ideal."

WASHINGTON—Senator William E. Borah, Idaho Republican:

"Cutting relief rolls really means the destruction of lives."

MINNEAPOLIS—Former President Herbert Hoover now head of the Finnish relief fund, Inc.:

"Civilization struck a new low with the Communist attack upon peaceful Finland."

"It seems a pity," Mark Twain once said, "that Noah and members of his family did not miss the boat."

"This statement was intended as a joke," adds Ed Howe, "but there is a good deal more than a joke in it. If Noah and members of his family had not found safety in the ark, the human race would have ended with the flood. Up to the time of Noah, the people had acted in such a foolish way that the Lord decided it was best to destroy them. The descendants of Noah are not doing any better. So it seems a pity Noah and members of his family did not miss the boat."

"Dick, don't you think Isabel's necklace is pretty?" a young wife asked her husband last evening at a small bridge party that I was striving to enjoy.

"I really don't care for simulated jewels," he growled, looking up from his cards just for the nonce. And what made his brusqueness all the worse was the fact that Isabel, thus humiliated, was related to neither of them.

The other week, when I advised some questioner that a bit of deception was preferable to the awful truth in cases of this kind, a pious soul from miles away asked Friend Editor to fire me. Readers' Questions Answered Hostess: Yesterday I answered your question—when to introduce—today my instructions are on "unnecessary introductions," requested by you... those taking place in public, unless an awkward situation would arise without an introduction. For instance, if you are walking along the street with a friend and you meet and stop to talk with another friend, do not introduce them if you simply exchange greetings. Of course, if you talk for a few minutes, they should be introduced. At a large social function, such as a tea or reception, it is not necessary to introduce individually all guests.

When two persons are standing or seated far apart, do not introduce together. Wait until they come closer together.

What's What At A Glance

United States Smiles At Russia
Charges Made By Communist Press
Not Responsible For League Ousting

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—Washington has to smile at Moscow's account that the United States was mainly responsible for Russia's expulsion from the League of Nations, because of the Soviet's attack on Finland.

The Stalin government hasn't made this assertion officially, but the Communist press has made it, and the Russian press is so completely governmentally controlled that it is, in effect, official. The state department doesn't care, of course. Indeed, its spokesmanship doesn't deny that the United States' attitude toward the Muscovites' expulsion from the league is very sympathetic. However, that Uncle Sam had anything to do with it is referred to as a perfectly ridiculous idea.

As everyone knows, we don't belong to the league. We've no vote in its decisions.

The Moscow press naturally is as well aware of this as the rest of the world. Its story, though, is that Washington, as the biggest of the Pan-American republics, controlled the ballots of the smaller fry, thus guaranteeing the league's anti-Russian unanimity.

Stalinists Badly Stung

It hadn't been surmised in Washington that the Stalinists would be much perturbed by a vote firing their country out of the league. The notion was that they simply would ignore it.

Evidently this was a mistake. Getting kicked out of the league appears to have been interpreted by them as equivalent to the action of a social club in kicking out a member as no gentleman—a verdict verging on the stigma of a sentence to the penitentiary. Clearly it stung the Soviets frightfully.

Initially, they temporarily hushed up the tale of their expulsion. But seemingly reports of it began to leak out, and they had to counter them.

So they're trying to explain how crooked it all was.

They blame the state department for stirring up the Latin American movement indirectly, in connection with its "good neighbor" policy.

South American Policy

The theory is that we fixed the Latin Americas to turn anti-Communist.

Now, the truth is, of all Latin American countries, Argentina is the least friendly to Uncle Sam.

Our own and Argentina's trade interests conflict.

Yet Argentina was the first country to declare for Russia's expulsion from the League of Nations.

If Russia persisted in its campaign against Finland.

In short, the Argentine stands for democracy.

These Latin American republics have their spells of dictatorship, but basically they're democratic.

The truth, nevertheless, is that the state department was a bit surprised, though pleased, by the solidarity of our southern neighbors.

The Human Side Of The News

(By EDWIN C. HILL)

Copyright 1939 King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Nothing stays put these days. As we approach a new year undismayed but facing vast uncertainties, we hear of an island in the South Pacific dropping below the sea. Out in Montana, near Terry, Ed Bright's ranch is sinking a foot a day, forty feet down already. The town of Jerome, Arizona, has sinking spells like a spinster lady of the mauve decade. Geologists tell us that the earth, as well as man, is still in the making, that undersea heaving and settling are going on which in time shift continents, raise and sink islands, and marshall rivers and seas to the slow baton of the ages.

In 1930 the Isle of Amak Krakatoa in the Malay Archipelago, an old established island, slipped out of sight. Years before, the Isle of Johanna, near Alaska, bobbed up out of the sea, two hundred feet high and three miles long; four years later it too had disappeared.

One could fill a book with such tales of rising and falling mountains, for nothing is at rest anywhere in the universe, nothing is static.

"The bands of Orion shall be loosed and the Seven Sisters glide apart," said Job and so they are. The swift pace of the stars and their consequent movement made Job's prophecy come true and man, having either intelligence or the moral sense, which obviously he has not, has plenty of time to adjust himself to the changes in the earth beneath and the heavens above, for he is only an actor—an extra—in a slow-motion film.

Some find wealth in the mountains of California or the hills of Georgia, others find it in tropical seas in the form of glowing, glittering little fishes not much bigger than a pin. The tropical fish business is a big business now, and a hard, adventurous and dangerous business, though you might not think it, for the tropical fish hunters and trappers, invading the mysterious jungles of Central and South America, suffer beri-beri and Chagas fever, and malarial mosquitoes, venomous reptiles, typhus, just to find a tiny fish with new, stranger and more exotic trimmings.

In the wilderness of Brazil, Peru, British Guiana, Venezuela and a half dozen other jungle countries, these men encounter miseries and perils which only the pioneers of our old West might have matched. The tropical fish-hunter, pushing up sluggish, jungle-choked tributaries of the Amazon, the Orinoco, the Magdalena or the Darien, and sometimes their bones are left in the mud and the dark smother of savannahs and bonko trees. Many never come back.

Prices have been almost fantastic. In 1936, a big tropical fish ship, prowling up the Amazon, trapped a tiny fish with a red light on one side like a neon light. They named it Neon Tetra, the Tetra being the generic name of this type of fish. They made quite a haul of this quaintly rigged little fellow and landed them up here at around one hundred dollars a pair. Several pairs rode to Europe on the dirigible Hindenburg, and they are now swimming strong in Paris. Any showy little number, perhaps lit up fore and aft, with a lace fichu around its neck and a flange skirt of

'Gas-House Gang' Of Balkans Lines Up As Peace Bloc

Drop Past Differences To Cooperate In Present Crisis

INFLUENCED BY FASCIST ITALY

By PERCY WINNER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

ROME—Europe's political equivalent of the gas-house gang—the Balkan nations—are lining up to be fitted with a "peace bloc" under the benevolent blessing of Europe's most influential neutral—Fascist Italy.

Evidence accumulates that important progress is being made to weld together in cooperative neutrality the nations which for generations were considered the Old World's prime scoundrels.

Hungary, Rumania, Bulgaria, Yugoslavia, Greece and Turkey will, it is expected, in well informed quarters in Rome, bury their various and sundry hatchets and get together in a Balkan conference to work out means for preserving their neutrality and for intensifying their mutual trade relations.

No Date Set
No date or place for the conference has been set but preliminaries are well under way. And it is believed that Italy will not only be represented by an observer but will give the new bloc the support of its prestige and, even more important, of its military status.

A Hungarian delegation visited Rome recently. Simultaneously there was a military ceremony in Budapest emphasizing the close ties of amity between Hungary and Italy.

Greece and Italy have exchanged friendly notes and, more important, they have withdrawn troops from the border between Greece and Italian Albania.

Both trade and political negotiations are under way between Yugoslavia and Italy, while relations between Yugoslavia and Hungary have taken a turn for the better. At the same time, the tension between Hungary and Rumania has been so greatly relieved that troops have been withdrawn from the border between the two countries.

Bulgaria's queen, a daughter of the Italian royal house, has been paying a visit to her parents at San Rossore and relations between the two countries never were better.

Bulgaria Softening

Bulgaria seems to be getting over grudge against its neighbors, Greece, Rumania and Yugoslavia—a heritage of its loss of territory in the World War and also in the Balkan Wars. Tension with Rumania has so diminished that Rumanian troops have been moved from the Bulgarian to the Russian border.

Other old grudges are disappearing in the new wave of friendliness. Greece and Turkey are smiling at each other and the same is true about Rumania and Turkey. But the real key to the whole situation is a steady improvement in relations between Rome and Ankara which on November 11, the birthday of King Victor Emmanuel, carried out the gracious gesture of a radio talk in the Italian language.

This factor is vastly important in the view of foreign observers in Rome because Turkey is an ally of Great Britain and France while Italy, though a neutral, is linked to Germany by the axis.

Britain Supports Bloc

It is believed here that Britain is eagerly supporting the new Balkan bloc as a means of checking German penetration southward. At the same time it is understood that Germany is not unfriendly to the scheme because it may serve to block any possible Russian ambitions toward Pan-Slav control of southern and eastern Europe.

Thus, ironically, the two great war enemies, Germany and Britain, are in the position of more or less seeing eye-to-eye on a major political issue but for quite different reasons. Germany is making no effort to block the plan because Russia might take advantage of any complications resulting from the war in the west—an invasion of Holland, for example—to strike through Rumania toward the Black Sea.

Report Stalin Asks For Aid Of German Experts

(International News Service)

COPENHAGEN, Jan. 2.—Dictator Josef Stalin of Russia has asked Germany for 200,000 Reich technicians and experts to organize the entire economic life of the Soviet Union, especially transportation facilities, the newspaper Politiken stated today in a dispatch from Berlin.

The paper said Russia intends to place Germans in all responsible posts in Russian industries, replacing Russian executives.

High remunerations are said to have been offered the Germans, Politiken stated, and also to Russian-speaking experts in the Baltic states.

According to the dispatch the Finnish war has revealed "most astonishing faults" in Russia's organization. It was stated in Berlin that if he received no outside help in reorganizing Russia, Stalin would be unable to carry on warfare on any front at all, the newspaper said. (A Reuters News Agency version of the Politiken dispatch said that Stalin admitted that unless he received the requested help from the Reich he would not be able to continue the war against Finland and would be unable to deliver promised raw materials to Germany.)

The great question, Politiken added, is whether Germany can give Russia this aid. On the other hand Russia is said to have stipulated that continued economic cooperation with the Reich will be conditional upon receiving the requested assistance.

Berlin, Jan. 2.—German authorities today flatly denied a report published by the newspaper Politiken in Copenhagen that Russia has asked the Reich for 200,000 technicians and experts to reorganize the economic life of the U. S. S. R.

Marie Murray to Manufacturers Light and Heat company, Fourth ward, $150.

Mae F. Zehner to James Reed Parkhill, Ellwood City, $1.

H. O. L. C. to Edward M. Fisher, First ward, $3800.

Both court rooms were busy Saturday morning when final accounts were filed in 37 estates. The accounts were presented and after approval of the court the estates are settled.

One final contract for the year was let Saturday when a contract for floor covering for the prothonotary's new office was let. The job went to the General Floor Covering company of New Castle at a price of $805.

For the new year the court house tenants have different wishes. District Attorney John G. Lamoree hopes that too many people won't commit crimes during the year. County Detective Paul A. Welsh hopes folks won't call him out of bed at three o'clock on a cold morning.

Sheriff M. M. Ingham hopes somebody will get that pile of record books off the floor of his office and do something about the narrow office that is not finished yet.

County Commissioner George H. Bolinger, the only hold over in the commissioners' office hopes for a year of harmonious co-operation with his new colleagues, and fewer damage claims from residents along highways where improvements are made.

County Controller Frank W. Hill would like to have fewer vouchers to audit or more hours in the day to accomplish the work.

Both judges, W. Walter Braham and Thomas W. Dickey are hoping for fewer divorce suits.

And everybody who pays into the county treasurer's office is hoping for lower taxes.

The Great Game Of Politics

It is the longest one we have ever had. The other is that of all the important industrial nations of the world, our progress toward recovery has been slower and less substantial than any other with the single exception of France. Every month the League of Nations publishes figures showing the industrial volume in some twenty-two countries. In most of these recoveries have been fully made and prosperity beyond 1928 achieved. In this list of twenty-two the United States is twenty-one and France twenty-two. In explanation of this, Col. Leonard Ayres, a recognized authority, says: "Both nations share in common two similarities in their depression record. Both have followed programs of managed economics in which government has left unchanged the capitalist structure of business while interposing progressive regulation over its operations and meanwhile incurring huge deficits to finance subsidies and relief programs. In both, these developments have been accompanied by great reductions in the investment of private capital in business enterprise."

THIS is held the key to the real problem of the depression. The flow of private capital into business has been stopped by the continuously changing governmental regulations, restrictions, interventions, oppressive taxation and state competitions. These have taken away the one reason for investors to put money into business enterprises—to wit, profits. The risk has become too great and the gain too small. As a result, private capital remains idle or goes into tax-free and riskless bonds. Until the risks are lessened and the restrictions relaxed the flow will not be resumed and recovery is bound to be short and insecure. Until then the unemployment situation will not be bettered. Pump priming definitely has been proved not the answer. It only increases the fear of the private investor and enhances his desire to play safe because he knows the stimulation to be temporary and artificial. It creates apprehensions of inflation and either must be followed by another dose or a slump ensues.

WE have been playing that game steadily since 1934 when the bonus to veterans was paid and the first huge subsidies to farmers began. We are still playing it, but despite this year's expansion, the number of unemployed and the size of the relief load are not measurably reduced. It ought to be clear to everyone, it seems, that until the things that crimp business initiative and prevent people from taking risks with their money are removed, there is going to be no expansion that means real jobs and no recovery that isn't hollow.

THERE are some men in the Administration who see and want this. Mr. John Hanes, the Under Secretary of the Treasury, was one of them, but he has resigned, chiefly because he found he couldn't do anything much about it. The others are in no position to make progress. It obviously involves undoing some of the things the New Deal has done and that, of course, cannot—or, at least, will not—be done under the Administration. Whether it will be done at all depends upon the outcome of the Presidential campaign, now in its preliminary stages. If we could foresee that, we would have much more solid ground for speculation about the new year. Without that knowledge and without some idea of the length and character of the war, nobody's judgement as to what is going to happen in this country in 1940 is worth very much.

Breckenridge Long

Breckenridge Long, former United States ambassador to Italy, is believed in Berlin to be under consideration by the American government as a possible new ambassador to Germany. America's last ambassador to Germany, Hugh Wilson, was recalled to the United States months ago for consultation and has not returned. Shortly afterward the German ambassador to the United States, Hans Dieckhoff, returned to Berlin.

Firemen Save Home On Monday

Wilson Avenue Residence

Threatened By Blaze Late

New Year's Morning

Fifth ward and Shenango township firemen united in saving the home owned by Mrs. Guy Christy, of R. F. D. No. 1, and occupied by T. L. Gardner, on Wilson avenue, from destruction just before noon on New Year's Day, when sparks from a defective chimney set fire to the attic of the home. A loss of around $300 was sustained, which is covered by insurance.

When the two departments arrived at the scene, the blaze was just breaking through the weatherboarding on the east side of the home, and fanned by a stiff breeze would have been easy prey to the flames. Water was played on the fire from the booster tanks of the two trucks, and was quickly brought under control. A big hole was burned in the side of the house, and the family was unable to re-occupy the home afterwards, their furniture, which had been removed by neighbors being taken to the home of nearby friends.

position and the emphasis with which they expressed themselves. There also is considerable gratification at the fashion in which they "pepped up" the league. Some officials suggest that, if this is the kind of a league we're going to have thenceforward, it may not be such a bad outfit for us to get into.

Britain and France

The Soviet newspapers, to be sure, don't contend that Uncle Sam was the sole influence in getting their country fired out of the Geneva aggregation. They blame Britain and France also. However, they editorialize to the effect that the Anglo-French partnership at least is European and thus, possibly, entitled to think it has an interest in Old World situations. But Finland, they argue, absolutely is none of the Pan-American business, and particularly none of the United States' business, since the U. S. doesn't even belong to the league. Consequently they're madder at us than at anybody—this on the theory that we're the canis that wagged the Latin American tail.

Maybe, agrees Washington officialdom, strictly in an unofficial capacity, the British and French did have something to do with the votes cast by European representatives at Geneva. As for Uncle Samuel, he was as much surprised as anybody at Latin America's initiative.

Washington is glad, though, that Comrade Stalin's feelings were hurt.

McCLARAN-PUGH NEWS ANNOUNCED

Announcement was made known of the engagement of Miss Jean McClaran, daughter of K. R. McClaran of 235 Hillcrest avenue, and Edward Pugh, of Edgewood avenue, at an afternoon bridge given in the McClaran residence on a recent afternoon.

Miss McClaran presided as hostess at the three table game, with Marjorie Thomas and Juanita Lewis capturing the honor score prizes at the close of play.

Later, the group was seated about a beautifully appointed table, where a well planned menu was served by Miss McClaran with her mother, Mrs. William Pugh, aiding. The Yule motif was novel combined with the nuptial theme, and news of the engaged couple was cleverly told on "candle cards" with red ribbons attached, when the lights revealed the names "Jean and Ed."

Both the principals are graduates of the New Castle high school in June, 1939.

No date has been set for the wedding.

IRENE CALDERWOOD WEDS M. BRANSCOME

Miss Irene Calderwood, daughter of Mrs. O. W. Calderwood of Round street, was united in marriage to Maynard Branscome, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Branscome, of Virginia, the ceremony taking place Saturday evening at 8:30 o'clock, in the First Methodist church. The pastor, Rev. McLean, officiated in the presence of the immediate families and a few guests of the couple.

The bride, attired in a white organza toe length gown, with veil of tulle, wore a corsage of orchids.

Miss Martha Wortman of New Bedford as maid of honor, was attired in Peach stain, floor length, and her flowers were of yellow rose buds. Claude Branscome, brother of the groom, served as best man.

The couple left immediately following on a motor trip through Virginia and Florida. Upon returning, they will take up residence in New Castle.

She is a graduate of Union High with the class of 39, and he is affiliated with Conn's Welding Shop here.

ST. LUCY'S CHURCH SCENE OF WEDDING

Miss Helen Lambasi, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Lambasi of 211 South Liberty street, and Joseph DeCarbo, son of Mrs. Conetta DeCarbo, 19 Mainland street, were united in marriage on Monday, New Year's morning at 10:30 o'clock in St. Lucy's church, with the Rev. Fr. Sebastian Ippolito officiating. He used the single ring service.

The bride, given away by her father, Michael Lambasi, was attired in a slipper satin gown, made princess style. She carried an arm bouquet of Madonna lilies.

Miss Violet Lambasi, as maid of honor, wore a peach satin gown, with blue accessories. Frank Pagano served the groom as best man.

Supplementing the ceremony a dinner was served to the bridal party and the immediate families at a local hotel. A reception was held for friends and relatives in St. Margaret's hall.

Mr. and Mrs. DeCarbo departed on a wedding trip to the east. For traveling the bride wore a dusty pink ensemble with black accessories.

The young couple will reside in their newly furnished home north of Pittsburgh, where Mr. DeCarbo is manager of the Pittsburgh terminal of the DeCarbo Express company.

pected to be submitted by the president. Special messages with detailed recommendations may follow within the next few weeks.

While Democratic leaders hope for a harmonious session, Republican leaders predict many bitter battles. Presidential politics is certain to dominate many actions of the congress, with a possibility that events of the session may determine the presidential nominees of the two major parties.

Outstanding Questions

Outstanding questions faced by the session include:

1. The budget. Disclosure that the president will recommend big reductions in appropriations already has brought protests from sectional interests. Republicans say the president will try to "pass the buck" to congress on the question of economy.

2. Taxes, the president is expected to suggest taxes to finance extraordinary defense and farm parity costs, with congress reluctant to vote tax increases in a campaign year.

3. Reciprocal trade agreements. President to fight for extension of trade agreement power, with a Republican-Democratic coalition planning to fight for senate ratification of all trade agreements.

4. National defense. Administration expected to seek $500,000,000 increase in defense outlays. Congress, in the mood to support adequate preparedness, may nevertheless check expansion program.

5. Debt limit. Republicans to fight expansion of the $450,000,000 national debt limit. Administration, through the treasury, may seek to postpone an increase in debt limit until next year.

6. Anti-lynching legislation. House slated to pass Gavan anti-lynching bill, with senate filibuster and split between northern and southern Democrats threatened.

7. Wagner revision. Showdown expected on demands for revision of act with attitude of congress still problematical. Drastic revision doubted by many members.

8. Railroads. Final passage of Wheeler-Lea railroad relief bill, designed to place rail, motor truck and waterway operations on equal basis, is expected.

Mr. Pennsylvania rolls up his sleeves!

From the industries of America come welcome words: "Send us more steel and iron, more coal and coke!"... "We need more textiles, more glass and gasoline, more oil, more railroad cars!"... "Rush carloads of leather goods, cigars, cement, silk... and a thousand other Pennsylvania products. Ship at once!"

So says American industry—for business is better. More jobs! More people on payrolls!

And so Mr. Pennsylvania rolls up his sleeves, grins a big, broad grin and gets set for a busier and brighter year.

Farmers are looking forward to better prices. Railroads are building new cars, buying new rolling stock.

Factories are beehives of activity. Stores are busy. Pennsylvania's people are forging ahead; earning, buying, building, saving—living!

This quicker tempo of business will make even greater demands on Pennsylvania's telephone service. For when people are busy... when there's work to be done... they turn to the telephone to make things click!

We of your telephone company are prepared. Our plant and equipment are ready. Our people are trained to give fast, accurate service—and always with courtesy. We are eager and able to help make this a great year in the long, proud history of Pennsylvania.

COUNTY OFFICIALS FORMALLY ENTER OFFICE MONDAY

Earl R. Wimer was then sworn as county treasurer and was followed by the coroner Dr. T. P. Nugent.

Deputies were then called up. Miss Emma Carson, principal deputy to the prothonotary and Elmer W. Nesbitt, assistant deputies were sworn in a group. Donald I. Neal was sworn as deputy to County Treasurer Earl R. Wimer. Mr. Neal is a newcomer to court house hill. He is a resident of Wilmington township and a former bank teller.

Andrew Dodds, deputy county controller was sworn.

Constables came next and the following constables were sworn: A. A. Shoup, Bessemer; Glenn C. Martin, New Wilmington; Eugene Mullen, sixth ward; Joseph Russo, 7th ward; Michael Pricella, 8th ward; R. B. Morrow, 4th ward; Nicholas De Carlo, 5th ward; Walter Bannion, West Pittsburgh and Jess C. Kennedy, 3rd ward. The oaths for alderman and justices of the peace are to be administered by Register and Recorder Orville Potter when they qualify. They have sixty days for this.

At the conclusion of the ceremonies Judge W. Walter Braham spoke briefly, thanking the retiring officers for their co-operation and wishing the new officers success in their duties. Court then recessed.

For the ceremonies the courtroom was fairly well filled with families and friends of the officials.

BREAK OCCURS IN LIGHT CIRCUIT

Dr. Dafoe's Column On The Quintuplets And The Care Of Your Children

(Copyright, 1940, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

BABY TEETH

The Dionne Quintuplets are fast losing their baby teeth, and this is a good time to say a few words about the function of these very important organs.

The Quins were all very slow in getting their teeth because, as you know, they were premature children and very backward at first. But they are losing their first teeth right on schedule. Their age (5 years) is the time when any child should begin to lose its teeth.

There seems to be a lot of grave misconceptions as to the value and use of baby teeth. I have encountered mothers who thought that the natural way for the baby teeth to go was for them to decay. The last thing in the world they thought of doing was having their small children brush and take care of the first set of teeth.

What's the use, they fall out anyway? This is the attitude of far too many parents toward their baby's teeth.

The Quins, Marie, Emilie, Cecile, Yvonne and Annette, are losing some of the healthiest teeth you ever saw. Not a cavity in a single one of them. And the reason there are no cavities is no accident. Ever since those teeth popped through their gums they have been brushed daily. Their diets have been chosen with a view to making their teeth healthy.

The result is they are losing their teeth, not prematurely through decay, but on schedule, the healthy way. The roots are just absorbed, and the crown of the tooth is left sitting on the gum. So, they are removed with no trouble as soon as the child finds that they are loose.

Marie was the first to lose a tooth, a right central incisor. The day before she came to the nurse to show how she could "wiggle" it, and she was very proud of her feat. This caused Emilie and Annette to discover they could wiggle teeth with their tongues too. In each case it was lower front teeth that were loose.

Next day Marie lost her loose tooth and the day following Emilie's came out too. Annette still went about wiggling two loose teeth frantically to get them out and share in the attention her two sisters were getting. Poor Yvonne and Annette were terribly put out. Their teeth were still firm as anything.

Of course, we will watch this loss of teeth very closely. This should be done for every child, for suppose some of the baby teeth should be stubborn for some reason and refuse to come out on schedule. This would mean that the permanent teeth, coming through underneath, would be pushed out of line and come in crooked and uneven. You have often seen children going about with metal braces on their teeth, well, in most cases this is the direct result of trouble with the baby teeth.

So, if some of the Quins' teeth seem stubborn and threaten to interfere with the oncoming permanent teeth, we will have the stubborn ones pulled. We will have a fully qualified dentist to do it too, for while I have pulled hundreds of teeth in my time here, I am not a dentist. I only pulled those teeth because I had to in cases when there was no dentist near.

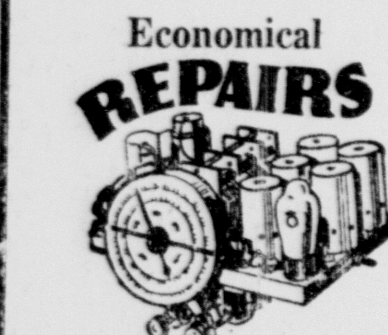

Children should be brought up to look on the dentist as a friend who will help keep away toothaches and cavities.

Of course, I know some dentists have a manner which frightens children. But most of them have learned how to handle children and how to make them feel at home and friendly once they are in the chair.

Some parents make the mistake of bribing little Willie with the promise: "The dentist won't hurt you". When the dentist begins to work on a bad cavity and the parents' prophecy turns out to be painfully wrong, then your child loses confidence in you and develops a fear of the dentist. It can be prepared for this pain and made to feel heroic about withstanding it without tears or fear.

TENT HALL

CLASS PARTY

The S. S. class of ladies, with their husbands, taught by Mrs. Mac Baird, gathered at her home Friday evening for a surprise fashion show.

Various games occupied the evening, after which a delicious lunch was served by Mrs. Bernice Kuhn, Mrs. Dora Cover and Mrs. Helen Shepherd.

One of the features of the evening was a shower of towels to Mrs. Baird when Mrs. Kuhn in a few well chosen words presented them.

TENT HALL NOTES

After spending the week at Kenton with her folks, Rev. and Mrs. Shephard returned home Friday.

A few friends of Ralph Baird surprised him at his home Friday evening with an oyster supper in honor of his birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Kuhn entertained her sister, Mrs. Bernice Steel and family and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cover at dinner Monday.

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Campbell will be interested to learn of the arrival of a daughter in St. Elizabeth hospital, Youngstown, Friday morning.

Rev. and Mrs. O. L. Kuhn and son of Mendon, Pa., with their parents from Kansas were dinner guests Thursday evening of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Kreitzer.

Mrs. Elmer Baird accompanied her sister and husband, Rev. and Mrs. Willard Billica, to Buffalo, N. Y., Thursday where she visited with them until Saturday.

Mrs. F. A. Montgomery, Mrs. Earl Cover and Mrs. Lloyd Montgomery visited the Misses Frances Geddes and Emma Moore, who have been ill, in New Castle, Thursday.

DAILY DOZEN

(From the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania)

One worker dies each year for every 1,000 workers.

This is the human price of American industry.

But it is only part of the picture. For every 1,000 workers there are 5 permanent injuries.

For every 1,000 workers there are 108 temporary injuries.

The Pennsylvania coal mining record is even higher.

In 1937, 411 were killed out of 230,156 workers.

In industrial deaths most accidents are due to carelessness.

Falls from elevations caused the most deaths.

Struck by falling objects was next chief cause of death.

Safety inspection, instruction and precaution are needed.

Death is a high price to pay for heedless carelessness.

'Tis Leap Year, But Bachelors Are Lucky

By WALTER KIERNAN
International News Service Staff
New York, Jan. 2.—Bachelors, who faced the dismal prospect of 366 days of constant pursuit by scheming females because Julius Caesar decided to add an extra day to every fourth year, can be glad that it is leap year 1940 in the United States and not leap year 1228 in Scotland.

The women were harder in those days. They not only got their men but they got the law on their side.

The specific law under which the women used to tag down the bachelors read:

"It is statuted and ordaind that during the rein of hir maiest blisist megeste, for ilk mayden ladye of bothe high and lowe estat shall have liberte to bespeke ye man she likes, albeitt he refuses to take hir to be his lawful wife, he shall be mulcted in ye sum and pundis or less, as his estat may be; except and aviss gif he can make it appeare that he be throtit aneither woman he then shall be free."

There is no record of how many "ane pundis" reluctant Scots poured into the treasury to preserve their freedom or whether they placed cash above principle and surrendered meekly to the first husband hunter.

French maidens of the period, eyeing the success of the Scotch females, went to work on their own government and before the next leap year rolled around "there was a law" in France. The ladies of Geneva and Florence got the idea and before you could say "cupid," single men all over Europe were on the defensive if not in full flight.

Columbus discovered America in 1492—a leap year—with three boatloads of sailors who certainly didn't go for the ride.

The Pilgrims set foot on Plymouth Rock in 1620. They said they were fleeing persecution. That was their story but 1620 was a leap year and there were plenty of bachelors in them that Mayflower staterooms.

Today there are not new worlds to discover and bachelors just have to stay home and take it. They will be invited to dances, to dinners, to the theater and to see things. They will be hunted and plagued and pursued and proposed to but there is still one consolation in the situation—in free America you can still say "no" with depositing "ane pundis" in the treasury.

State To Receive Over $7,000,000 In Federal Funds

Apportionment Of Highway And Grade Crossing Improvement Funds Announced

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
(Special Washington Correspondent, New Castle News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 2.—Pennsylvania will receive $7,177,342 for highway and grade crossing improvements under the apportionment of Federal funds announced today by Public Works Administrator John M. Carmody.

Administrator Carmody allotted to the state a grand total of $156,000,000 for such work authorized by congress under act of June 8, 1938.

Of this total, $115,000,000 was authorized for secondary or feeder roads, and $30,000,000 for elimination or hazards at railroad grade crossings.

Of the $7,177,342 for the Keystone state, $4,853,536 was earmarked for Federal-aid roads. The sum of $633,070 was for secondary or feeder roads, and $1,690,736 for grade crossings. The money becomes available next July 1, beginning of the fiscal year of 1941.

Texas topped all states, receiving $9,728,530 of this money from Administrator Carmody. New York followed with $8,229,635, and Pennsylvania came next. Ohio got $3,905,107, and West Virginia $1,799,715.

Many Foreclosures By HOLC In State

About 15 Per Cent Of Homes Refinanced By HOLC IN State Are Foreclosed

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
(Special Washington Correspondent, New Castle News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 2.—The Home Owners' Loan Corporation has been foreclosing on mortgaged homes to a greater degree in Pennsylvania than most states, according to the annual report of that agency just made public.

The HOLC refinanced mortgage loans on 58,796 Pennsylvania homes during its active lending years. Up to last June 30, the agency had turned around and foreclosed 8,770 or 14.9 per cent of those loans.

In the country as a whole, the corporation had commenced foreclosure against 16.8 per cent of its total loans.

The rate of foreclosure has been greater in Pennsylvania than all but 19 of the 48 states.

New York has suffered the greatest degree of foreclosures, where the HOLC has foreclosed 33.7 per cent of its loans. New Jersey comes next with a rate of 32.2 per cent, more than twice that of the Keystone state. The foreclosure rate is reported as 12.4 per cent in Ohio and eight per cent in West Virginia.

Nevada has the best record, where the HOLC has foreclosed only 4.7 per cent of its total mortgage advances.

Recommend Probe Of Subversive Activities Be Continued

To Be Submitted To New Congress

Seven-Man Dies Committee Prepares To Make Report On Wednesday

COMMITTEE MEETS IN SESSION TODAY

By GRIFFING BANCROFT Jr. International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—A report recommending continuation of a searching investigation of subversive activities in the United States will be submitted to the house tomorrow by the seven-man Dies committee, it was indicated today.

The report is expected to denounce Communist and Nazi propaganda, and to call for vigorous prosecution by the department of justice under existing law of all subversive movements together with continuation of efforts to throw the light of "pitiless publicity" on subversive agencies.

Secret Session

The committee, including both Democrats and Republicans, was called into a secret session today to approve the report although Chairman Dies (D) of Texas, was absent because of illness, which is keeping him at home.

Despite sharp differences among committee members over some phases of the investigation, it appeared probable that the report will be adopted unanimously.

Rep. Jack Dempsey (D) of New

Mexico, who has frequently clashed with Chairman Dies, said that he favors continuation of the inquiry. "I think the investigation should continue, although I think there should be changes in procedure," Dempsey said. "For example, I don't think the chairman should constitute himself a subcommittee of one to hear a report of an investigator and make it public."

(International News Service)

LONDON, Jan. 2.—Unity Freeman-Mitford, the English blonde whom Chancellor Hitler admired as a "perfect Nordic beauty," is en route to England from the Reich aboard a special ambulance train, the London Daily Express said today.

The paper stated that Hitler made arrangements for her transportation home, adding that since outbreak of the war she has been hovering between life and death at a Munich hospital with a bullet wound in her head.

The Express quoted a friend of the family as stating: "It is entirely due to the assistance of Hitler, with whom, Miss Freeman-Mitford always has been friendly, that she will arrive home within a day or so."

Records At County Court House Reveal Activities Of Year

With 1939 out in the limbo of past years, a glance back at the year's work of some of the courthouse offices seems like an idea. Some of them do such a work that a check of factual information is a trifle difficult. Some of them are such offices as can be checked quickly.

Dan Cupid seemed to have a top-flight year in the license bureau of the office of Prothonotary, Durkin of Courts John A. Edgar, Durkin the year 1,344 couples asked for the paper that permits them to say, "I do." The number of divorces asked for and granted is a record that takes considerable time to check and is not shown in this article.

Lots of Instruments

Over in the office of Register and Recorder, Orville Potter, 3,403 instruments of various kinds were recorded, and this is exclusive of wills probated.

In the county controller's office the boys were busy along with Controller Frank W. Hill. Every receipt and disbursement must be audited by the controller's office, no matter the size, and the record shows some amazing things. There were 1,701 vouchers audited and signed in the institutional fund, 7,215 in the general fund, 265 in the gasoline fund, 621 in the school and road fund, 5,593 in the delinquent tax accounts and approximately 25,000 individual tax returns. In addition, there were several thousand individual vouchers.

Drifted Attorney's Office

The district attorney's office is one in which the records are available in detail quickly. The county detective, Paul A. Welsh, traveled 24,000 miles on official business, and his mileage was occasioned by crimes of every sort.

The docket records maintained by the office of the district attorney show that final disposition was made of a total of 491 cases during the year 1939. Only four cases, aside from those of the current March 1940 term, remain for trial or hearing.

Many Domestic Cases

Domestic relations cases embracing willful neglect to support a wife and child, and also cases involving failure to support a child born out of lawful wedlock, run into the scores each year. Certain miscellaneous cases prosecuted in 1939 by the district attorney's office are as follows: violation of lottery laws, 14; violations of the election code, 7; violations of the liquor laws, 10; violations of the uniform firearms act, 8; and miscellaneous violations of the motor vehicle code, 25.

The year was a busy one for all the courthouse offices, and the folks are hoping 1940 will be even busier.

In the probation office, Probation Officer Jack M. Dunlap reports 3,162 receipts issued for payments to wives who had sued for non-support from their husbands. The total paid out was $36,843.33. Cases where persons convicted of crime were placed upon probation, 308 receipts for a total of $1,179. This was mostly costs.

Fish Would Deport All War Propagandists

By WILLIAM S. NEAL International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—Deportation of all foreign war propagandists—including British as well as Nazi and communist agents—was proposed by Rep. Hamilton Fish of New York, ranking Republican on the house foreign affairs committee.

Furthermore, Fish proposed that the Dies committee be instructed to make a special investigation of propaganda designed to draw the United States into a European war, whether the propaganda is inspired from foreign or domestic sources.

As ranking Republican on the powerful rules committee, Fish will be confronted with the question of voting to recommend continuation of the Dies committee.

"I will urge continuation of the Dies committee for another year with an adequate appropriation," said Fish.

"The committee's powers should be enlarged, if necessary, to provide for an investigation into foreign war propaganda. This should include propaganda both from within and without the United States, and attempts to inflame passions and hatred of the American people by false and poisonous propaganda and atrocity stories."

"I am glad that the Dies committee urges that Colin Ross, a Nazi propagandist, be barred from entrance into the United States in the future. But what is sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander."

Why should we bar German propagandists and at the same time admit Duff-Cooper, until recently First Lord of the British Admiralty, Lord Marley and numerous other British highlights to make propaganda speeches throughout the United States?

"The American people are the greatest pushovers for foreign propaganda, particularly British propaganda, and seem to enjoy being told what our moral duty is and that Great Britain expects every American to do her duty."

"I hope the Dies committee will recommend drastic amendments to the immigration laws and deport alien Communists, Nazis and other foreigners who seek to spread poisonous propaganda to involve us in a European war."

Fish urged cancellation of the Finnish war debt and application of the funds already paid on the debt to purchase of foodstuffs and clothing for the Finnish people during the Soviet invasion.

He urged the United States to send an ambassador back to Germany "in order to promote peace."

"One of the greatest blunders of the administration was not having an ambassador in Berlin last August when the peace of the world hung in the balance," said Fish.

Fish proposed a 90 per cent profit on munitions makers or government ownership of munitions plants, if congress continues the policy of permitting sale of munitions to foreign nations.

Urge Motorists To Observe Safe Driving Rules

Nine Safety Measures For Winter Driving Given By Hamilton

SEASON BRINGS MOST ACCIDENTS

HARRISBURG.—Traffic deaths and accidents in eastern states increase 40 per cent in winter months when road conditions are most hazardous. Secretary of Revenue William J. Hamilton, Jr., said today.

In an effort to reduce the traffic toll this winter, Secretary Hamilton called attention to the safe-driving recommendations of the National Safety Council which are the result of thorough research and exhaustive tests.

The Safety Council's research showed that the worst winter driving hazard is "skidding and inadequate traction" while low visibility is the second most dangerous winter hazard.

Hamilton urged motorists this winter to observe the following safe driving tips recommended by the National Safety Council:

1. Check electrical and exhaust systems, windshield wipers and keep brakes equalized. Keep tire chains, defrosters and other vital equipment in good condition. Distribute the car's load evenly.
2. Spread on ice should not be excessive even with abrasives on the ice or with tire chains. Without chains speeds lower than 15 miles an hour are imperative.
3. The common practice of lowering tire pressure or of increasing the load gives only slightly more traction and are not nearly sufficient for all-around safety. These practices also damage tires.

4. Tire chains are the best help for the passenger car motorist. They are recommended for driving on ice and, in most instances on snow—especially on hard packed snow. Trucks with trailer units should use chains on wheels of trailer as well as tractor.
5. Maintain adequate vision through windshield and windows. Circulate fresh air by opening the cool ventilator, rather than side windows, which tend to such exhaust gases through the floor boards.
6. Always anticipate ice on bridges, in shaded spot, around curves and over hills, and when thawing temperatures are dropping.
7. Start by releasing the clutch slowly, with engine idling and the car in low gear, and accelerate cautiously to avoid spinning the rear wheels.
8. Pump the brakes in stopping even when using chains, to keep the wheels rolling. Slow down in gear to about 10 miles an hour, then release clutch for the final stop.
9. Keep a steady foot on the accelerator to avoid spinning the rear wheels. If a skid starts, turn the front wheels in the direction the rear is skidding.

Service In Ward Is Well Attended

Rev. D. J. Blasdel Conducts Special Program As New Year Begins

There was a good sized attendance at the "watch night" service conducted Sunday evening at 10:45 o'clock in the Mahoning Methodist church.

Rev. D. J. Blasdel, pastor of the church, delivered a special sermon as a fireman on the old Pittsburgh and Western railroad. He can recall when Hazel Dell, now the north side of Ellwood City, was the main station stop for Ellwood, which at that time had not yet come into existence. The principal industry of the district was the manufacture of time at Duck Run.

After some time, the P. and W. was acquired by the Erie and O. railroad, and its tracks were re-located on the south side of the creek. Mr. Johnson had the distinction of being the engineer of the first locomotive to cross the high trestle just west of Ellwood City.

As a farewell tribute, fellow employees presented Mr. Johnson with a handsome gift.

DATE OF SOCIETY MEETING CHANGED

Meeting of the new and old officers of the Christopher Columbus society of the ward, that was scheduled for tonight, has been postponed until Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock, in the society hall, South Liberty street.

This change was made to give the members a chance to rest after the holidays, according to the president, Thomas DiVivio.

WILLING WORKERS

Willing workers of the Mahoningtown Presbyterian church will meet Wednesday evening in the church parlors.

SEVENTH WARD PERSONALS

E. O. Farver, West Clayton street, is confined to his home by illness.

SHOULDER INJURED IN FALL EARLY TODAY

Mrs. Mary A. Rae, of 919 Pulker street, suffered a dislocation of the right shoulder, when she slipped and fell on the icy steps outside her home at 5:30 o'clock this morning.

She was brought to the Jameson Memorial hospital, where she is undergoing treatment for her injuries.

Ends Long Career As Railroad Man

William L. Johnson, Of Neshannock Avenue, Retires After Half Century

After a half-century of railroad-ing, which has been fraught with events of great interest, William L. Johnson, of 374 Neshannock avenue, has retired from the service of the P. and L. E. railroad on pension, and will spend the remainder of his days taking things easy.

For the past few years, he has been employed as crossing watchman on the Sixth street crossing of the P. and L. E. railroad in Ellwood City.

He started his career at the age of 15 years, when he was employed as a fireman on the old Pittsburgh and Western railroad. He can recall when Hazel Dell, now the north side of Ellwood City, was the main station stop for Ellwood, which at that time had not yet come into existence. The principal industry of the district was the manufacture of time at Duck Run.

After some time, the P. and W. was acquired by the Erie and O. railroad, and its tracks were re-located on the south side of the creek. Mr. Johnson had the distinction of being the engineer of the first locomotive to cross the high trestle just west of Ellwood City.

As a farewell tribute, fellow employees presented Mr. Johnson with a handsome gift.

Will Hold Milk Price Hearings In Near Future

(International News Service) HARRISBURG, Jan. 2.—Pennsylvania's milk control commission, studying new price orders for the Harrisburg, Erie, and Reading milk marketing areas, announced today that it would shortly inaugurate a new series of hearings for possible price changes in Western Pennsylvania.

John M. McKee, chairman of the commission, said that the commission would probably not begin the hearings for Western Pennsylvania until next week.

Reading and Erie are decided upon. All three new schedules, McKee said, should be ready in a short time.

Mayne Discharges Two Prisoners In First Police Court

Two discharges were presented by Mayor Charles B. Mayne when he conducted police court today in the City building annex. Both men who faced His Honor were charged with intoxication.

One of the men who appeared before Mayor Mayne was told to leave the city as soon as the weather moderates.

One of the prisoners did not recognize the mayor. However, the latter recognized the prisoner as soon as he appeared before him.

It was following his inaugural yesterday that the mayor approached by the man for the price of a meal, took the man to a restaurant and had the proprietor serve him food.

Apparently the man obtained money from other persons New Year's day and used it to purchase liquor which resulted in his being locked up.

The other man who appeared before Mayor Mayne told of having come here in search of work. The mayor told the prisoner that local citizens were also in search of work and instructed the prisoner he should return to his home town.

Train Crash Being Probed

Three Separate Probes Into Collision Of Crack Illinois Central Trains

(International News Service) ARCOLA, Ill., Jan. 2.—Three separate investigations were being pursued by many agencies today to determine the cause of a collision between two crack passenger trains of the Illinois Central railroad at Arcola early New Year's Day, in which one passenger was killed and 54 other persons were hurt.

The mishap occurred when the Panama limited crashed into the rear end of the Louisiana. Both trains were enroute from New Orleans to Chicago, with approximately 150 passengers. Five Pullman sleepers on the Louisiana were telegraphed to Chicago, as were the baggage car and coal tender of the Panama limited.

The dead passenger was Thomas E. Tallmadge, 63, prominent Chicago architect.

Investigations were under way by the local coroner's office, the Illinois commerce commission, and the Interstate commerce commission.

The Louisiana had stopped at Arcola to pick up Chicago passengers, and it was said the Panama limited's engineer had not been aware of the preceding train's unscheduled stop.

Schindler Hero As Trojans Trip Tennessee 14-0

Southern California Packs
Too Much Power For
Tennessee Vols

CAPACITY CROWD
SEES BOWL GAME

By RALPH B. JORDAN

PASADENA, Cal., Jan. 2.—It's a long and difficult road sometimes to football's land of fame, but Ambrose Schindler finally made it, and in the Rose Bowl, as the Trojans of Southern California blasted the Volunteers of Tennessee, 14 to 0, before a capacity crowd of 93,000 enthusiastic spectators.

Troy's big and powerful squad, skimping to a Pacific coast conference title with two ties, got hot against the Vols and ended Tennessee's remarkable record of two and a half years without defeat and a 1939 untied and unscathed on state. The Trojans, in fact, seem to have the secret of success in the Bowl, having appeared now six times with as many victories, their victims including three southern squads, Tulane and Duke as well as Tennessee. And those Dixie squads are tough on New Year's day.

Too Much Power
Southern California simply had too much power yesterday for Tennessee, and the most powerful Trojan of them all was Schindler, known as Ambling Ambly, a sturdy 195 pounds of dynamite on the hoof from down San Diego way.

Ambly won a hero's toga the hard way. He went all right as a sophomore, but developed a bad knee as a junior. He was operated on and was out of football for an entire year, coming back at the start of the past season a question mark. He worked along slowly and chose the Pasadena classic to finally explode.

Troy's Genny Lansdel started the game at tailback and was replaced by Doyle Nave. They couldn't get to Vol pay dirt, so late in the second period Schindler appeared. A driving, pounding runner, he punched the Tennessee forward wall for short gains until close to the goal line. Then an enthusiastic volunteer got too rough and the resulting penalty put the pigskin on the one-yard line. Ambly promptly carried it over to be the first young man to poke his nose over the Vol payoff stripe since 1938.

Then, late in the final quarter, he got going again and, aided by Jack Banta, put on a drive for nearly the length of the field, climaxing it by a cute bit of thinking. In the fourth down and one yard to go for a touchdown, The Vols lured as one man at Schindler, but he stepped back and tossed, a simple little pass to Al Krueger in the end zone.

Suffridge Good
Tennessee's famous George Cagge, obviously hampered by an injured knee, was stopped by the big Trojan forwards. But shift Johnny Butler got away for a couple of nice runs, and Fox and Warren put on a passing act which seemed headed for a touchdown until a fumble intervened. Suffridge, the All-American Tennessee guard, played his game, knifing through to stop Lansdel once on fourth down, a tackle that probably staved off another U. S. C. score.

But all in all, the Trojans simply pounded the Vols into submission, running up a total of 272 yards and 18 first downs, to 141 yards and nine first downs for Tennessee.

Georgia Tech Tops Missouri

Score Is 21 To 7 In Orange
Bowl Game At Miami,
Florida Monday

CHRISTMAN TALLIES
MISSOURI MARKER

By ED DANFORTH
International News Service Staff

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 2.—The rambling wrecks from Georgia Tech departed themselves on the sands of Miami beach today clad in shorts and the aura of Orange Bowl champions.

Coach Bill Alexander's young men had put on a slight-of-hand performance New Year's day before 36,000 pop-eyed spectators to defeat Missouri, champions of the Big Six, 21 to 7. The Engineers spotted Pitching Paul Christman and his pals a touchdown in the first quarter, then proceeded to befuddle the crowd and the Tigers with a display of deft ball hiding. The show the Tech men put on rivaled anything they had done during the regular campaign that left them co-champions of the Southeastern conference.

After Christman, superb passer and powerful runner, had counted, the Engineers took the kickoff and went 65 yards in 12 plays to score. Midway Johnny Bosch began pitching passes and Bobby Pair rested him by bobbing up from nowhere on reverses that baffled the Tiger defense. Howard Ector, full back, dived over the last six inches to score and Ray Gorce place-kicked the tying point.

The Engineers performed the classic feat of saving a Tiger in half in the second quarter. While the Missouri secondary chased Pair, who had nothing but life in his hands, Bob Ison came around from end on a double reverse and went 58 yards to score.

NOCERA-ADAMS
SCORING STARS

Playing flawless ball, the New Castle Boosters rocked the cage world from pillar to pillar by vanquishing the renowned New York Celtics before a small New Year's Day gallery in The Arena. The final score, 31-26.

Spearheaded by the nimble "Blackie" Nocera and cool-headed "Pop" Adams, the local passers took possession of the lead seconds after the opening whistle and never relinquished it. The scoreboard showed a 6-4 booster advantage as the initial period ended.

Three sizzling side shots by Adams and a corker by Nocera added the lead 14-6 as the passers left the hardwood at halftime. The Boosters pulled the unexpected, holding the white champs of the world to a lone field goal in the first half, a feat that is seldom accomplished against the vaunted Celtics.

Nocera took charge of the scoring end, annexing eight more points for the locals in the third stanza. Nat Hickey and the ageless wonder, Davey Banks, divided 10 points for the Celtics. At the close of the third period, the locals sported a 24-16 lead. The pros rallied in the final minute, trailing 29-26. Johnny Carik's field goal under the hoop clinched matters.

The locals were "on" doing everything according to the books. "Charles" "Tip" Richards, who handled the game alone, performed his role capably.

Gersons Defeated By I. K. S. Cagers

Local Passers Drop 42-34 Decision To Crack Pittsburgh Outfit

In one of the most thrilling contests of the early season, the Gersons passed dropped a 42-34 decision to the crack Irene Kaufman Settlement quintet of Pittsburgh, at The Arena.

Faced by "Gabby" Kendra, the Gersons moved ahead, 23-20, at halftime. A Schrecker, Linder and C. Schrecker led the I. K. S. second half rally which nipped the locals. The Pittsburghers won the A. A. U. championship for the past three years.

Kendra split the draperies for 11 points, followed by Bullano who pocketed two field goals and a pair of Annie Oakleys. The Gersons appeared in their new uniforms and ranked as one of the best dressed basketball teams in the district. Jack Gerson, sponsor, watched the exciting clash and was thoroughly pleased with the showing made by his team.

The Gersons play four games this week, meeting the Cozy Giants, Wednesday evening at 7:15 o'clock, on Falcon Hall. Friday, the Gersons switch nets with the Verona Club, on Falcon Hall. Saturday, the Gersons journey to Warren, meeting the Warren Merchants. Donnell Fordis face the locals on The Arena court, Sunday afternoon.

Sports World Ramblings

Local Briefs:—Andy Lasky, one of the most versatile athletes in the annals of New Castle High, spent the Yuletide vacation at his home, rear East Reynolds street. After winning letters in basketball, football and track, the slim south slyer grabbed a couple of insignias at Pitt University, garnering a post on the Panther track combination. Tennis, softball and baseball are several other sports in which Lasky was better than average. At present, Lasky is coaching at Connellsville High.

"Russ" Kawa, the ex-Penn State cager, is now a member of the New Castle Boosters. Competing in the 135-pound novice class, Donale Boots, flaunting the colors of the Banko Club West Pittsburgh, recently suffered a one round technical knockout in the Sun-Tee amateur swapsmith tourney. The New Castle Boosters' showing against the crack Renaissance team drew the plaudits of local fandom. By mid-season, the Frasersmen figure to develop into one of the smoothest independent cage combinations in this district.

Western Pennsylvania high school gymnasiums grab the spotlight tonight. It's W. P. I. A. L. basketball time and open season for thrills, spills and nerve tingling moments as scores of schoolboy combinations vie for sectional honors and then a short jaunt to the Pitt Stadium for the colorful tournament. New Castle and Ellwood City, Section III competitors, help make up what is considered the toughest sector in the league. Aliquippa, Beaver Falls, Ambridge and New Brighton, the cream of the valley, and Butler, comprise Section III. Improvements are reported from all camps, meaning the usual race-high class basketball with an abundance of excitement.

Grid attendance staggering:—When you stop to consider that some 40,000,000 fans paid to see football on ten Saturdays, these figures stagger the mind. The dizzy grid sport lured that many fans to stadiums all over the land during the past season. Yet a high fluting gent will occasionally get up in arms and tell the world that football is due for a tremendous let-down. After Chicago junked football, an official declared that the game has seen its best days. Twist the statement around and you have it, unless figures lie and they never do.

Cotton Bowl Game Won By Southern Eleven In Hard Fought Manner

DALLAS, Tex., Jan. 2.—The Cotton Bowl trophy belonged to Clemson's country gentlemen today after their well-merited 6 to 3 victory over Boston college in the annual Dallas football extravaganza, but a large share of the plaudits were reserved for the losers, who almost stole the show.

All the scoring came in the second period, the South Carolina eleven putting over a decisive touchdown on the only sustained march of the day, for 57 yards. Except for a single pass, from Banks McFadden to Wister Jackson, the drive was carried with McFadden and Charley Timmons running the ball.

Score On Field Goal
Boston college had made its three points only a few minutes earlier when Alex Lukachi, a substitute end, booted a field goal from the 26-yard line.

Excepting the Clemson touchdown march, Boston college had much the better of the play. Charley O'Rourke, Boston's ace passer, carried the burden for most of his team's offensive action, playing his heart out. "Tarz" Tozzykowski, blocking back and signal Barker, was exceptional for his all-around play but his effort escaped the notice of the 25,000 fans because he never carried the ball.

West Team Wins From East 28-11

(International News Service)
SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 2.—Forty-four of the nation's greatest collegiate players of 1939 prepared to return to their widely scattered homes today, following the 15th annual east-west New Year's Shrine charity game in which the western squad proved its superiority by a score of 28-11. It was the west's third successive victory.

The eastern all-stars, coached by Andy Kerr of Colgate and Bernie Bierman of Minnesota, were 10-3 pre-game favorites, but a soggy turf in San Francisco's Kezar stadium and a constant downpour throughout the afternoon kept backfieldmen George McAfee of Duke, Ed Boell of New York university and Ronnie Cahill of Holy Cross from executing jack-rabbit and aerial advances.

OUTSTANDING STAR

By WILLIAM G. GAUDET
International News Service Sports

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 2.—Although there were plenty of cheers to go around, most of the shouting today after the sixth annual Sugar bowl football classic was for "Jarring John" Kimbrough, whose spectacular play led undefeated Texas A. and M. to a 14 to 13 victory over a powerful and fighting Tulane eleven.

A crowd of 73,000, which shattered all southern attendance records, gave lusty vocal accompaniment as Kimbrough, a hard-charging, almost unstoppable All-American back, drove the Aggies ahead for the full 60 minutes.

Kimbrough first threatened when he sparked his teammates to the one-yard stripe in the opening quarter before they were stopped. When the Aggies came back several minutes later, aided by a roughing penalty, "Jarring John" wasn't stopped and went over from the three-yard line.

The Tulane green wave rolled into scoring territory in the second period, but got no further than the ten-yard marker. It was not until the third quarter the Greenies were able to score. This stab came quickly when Kellogg raced back to his 25 to take Moser's quick kick, sidestepped tacklers and continued for 75 yards behind fast-forming Greene interference.

Butler Scores
Tulane counted again in the last quarter when Butler culminated a 30-yard march by going over for a touchdowns. The kick was missed, fatally.

Trailing then, the Aggies rose up in fury. "Jarring John" tore the Greene forward wall to pieces. Around the flanks he went, through the tackles off the guards. Piling up first downs, Jarring John really went to town.

Finally the Tulane 26 was reached. When two plays gained only two yards, it seemed Tulane would stand off this last desperate assault. But then Price sent a pass to Smith who lateraled to Kimbrough. And Kimbrough kept going to pay dirt. Price was good with his placement and the Aggies led, 14-13.

Only the clock stopped Jarring John on a final surge. He plowed and plunged to the nine, but then after two plays time ran out and the game ended.

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEALL

Good day folks... how are you all this chilly 1940 day. Sure have had some weather to usher in a new year... wonder if you and tradition is connected with a cold New Year's day? Suppose someone has something to say about that... being very young on tradition we will wait for word from the old timers.

Some time ago we mentioned that old fashioned or the good old sorghum molasses was difficult to find in the part of the country. To date we haven't had any luck... but about this time of year, some folks take a tour to the south land... maybe it will be possible that someone will bring back some molasses and put it on sale in New Castle... there are quite a few folks who would like to taste the richness of this southern dish.

Today if you go to the county courthouse or the city hall you will find new faces... yes the new administration was sworn in yesterday amid all the confusion of the first of the year... but right now we would like to say to those who left office that we think you all did a very fine job and hope that your new or renewed occupation will treat you fine. So here's to a Happy New Year to you all... The new administration and office holders we hope that the next few years you will give your all to the betterment of our fine town and county.

No matter what people say about our town we still are of the opinion that New Castle is alright... look around you and see just how things have been in the past... an outstanding example would be our banks... did anyone in New Castle ever lose a cent due to bank failure? Look at other towns... and draw your own conclusion.

Did you ever attend a Rose Bowl Football game... according to reports about 90 thousand did yesterday... and from word of those who did attend the tickets were selling from $10 up and mostly up. Some folks sure like to see the great American College game. Just think how many cans of beans and beef steak could be bought with the money spent on tickets... but we like the idea better than spending that same amount on guns to give the young of these United States.

Turnover Slows Down During Morning—Gains Are Small

By LESLIE GOULD
International News Service Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—The stock market opened fractionally higher today, although turnover slowed down and ran well under 1,000,000 shares.

U. S. Steel set the pace in the steels, but gains were small. Union Carbide ran up more than a point in the chemicals.

General Motors was fractionally higher. Chrysler also was up but slipped back to the previous close later.

Phelps Dodge was under slight pressure in the coppers, but the rest of the group improved. International Nickel was a strong spot.

There also was some irregularity in the railroad shares, where C. & O. showed an easy tone.

Standard of New Jersey was strong in the oils.

The rubber shares moved up in sympathy with the rest of the list. Continental Can rose nearly a point in the miscellaneous section. Aviation and electrical equipments also were firm.

Frank W. Rowen Dies Suddenly Sunday Morning

Funeral Services Held This Afternoon From Van Gorder Funeral Home

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 2.—Frank W. Rowen, aged 45 years, of 218 Fifth street, died very suddenly on Sunday morning at 5:55 o'clock at his home after being stricken ill at 10 o'clock on Saturday evening while at work in the bar mill of the National Tube company.

Charles P. Byers, coroner, who investigated the sudden illness of Mr. Rowen reported that his death was due to a cerebral hemorrhage.

Mr. Rowen came to this city from Beaver Falls fifteen years ago and during his residence in this community had become well known and liked.

The only immediate survivors are his wife, Sarah E. Rowen and one brother, Florence Rowen, in Utah state.

Funeral services were held this afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Van Gorder funeral home, in Fifth street. Rev. A. M. Stevenson, pastor of the First Presbyterian church officiated with interment being made in the Sylvania Memorial Park cemetery, on the Sunflower road.
